RE: COVID-19 Update

Good afternoon,

A team member in the housekeeping department is confirmed positive today. The team member does not work in individual apartments or resident rooms in the nursing center. The team member is not experiencing symptoms and is home quarantining.

A resident in the assisted living neighborhood has tested positive for Covid-19. The resident has transferred to the hospital. All of the residents in the assisted living neighborhood will be tested on Saturday the 26th. Under the advice of the state epidemiologist, delaying testing until Saturday allows for the appropriate time between the on-set of symptoms for the positive resident and any potential infections to others. The science has learned that testing too soon can return a false negative test result.

We, along with the population at large have been experiencing steady increase in activity since the Thanksgiving holiday. Please think carefully about who you come in contact with, and take every precaution to contain the spread of this virus, especially over these next few weeks. The holidays are about being together with family and friends but we strongly urge everyone to stay home for the holidays. We agree it is very difficult, but this is the time to be extra diligent in our efforts to control the spread of the virus across our community.

It is unfortunately necessary at this time to close the building to all indoor visits until further notice. We are truly sorry that this decision had to be made. We are still open to outdoor visits. Please continue to arrange for visits, wear masks, and remain at least 6 feet apart.

We currently have an adequate supply of all required Personal Protective Equipment (PPE).

Please continue to hold those across the world who are infected with COVID-19, and all those who care for them, in your thoughts today.
